NOTES IN SEASON.

FUNK & WAGNALLS announce as just ready "The Mentor: A Little Book for the Guidance of such Men and Boys as would Appear to Advantage in the Society of Persons of the Better Sort," by Alfred Ayres, author of the "Orthoëpist," etc.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "Fifty Years' Observation of Men and Events. Civil and Military," by Gen. E. D. Keyes, at one time aide-de-camp of General Scott; "The Reality of Faith," a new volume of sermons by Rev. Newman Smyth; "The Ancient Empires of the East," by A. H. Sayce; "The Common-Sense Household Calendar for 1885," by Marion Harland; and The Boys' Library of Legend and Chivalry, all of which have been fully noticed in our last issue.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready "Tip Cat," a story by the author of "Miss Toosey's Mission," and "Laddie," another welcome, unassuming tale, full of genuine humor, pathos, and observation of human and especially children's nature, told in a delightful and entertaining manner; "Suwanee River Tales," by Sherwood Bonner, with a memorial sketch of the late author, by Sophia Kirk, and illustrations by Frank P. Merrill; "A Sea Change," by Flora L. Shaw, an admirable story by the author of "Castle Blair," etc.; "Jack Archer," a tale of the Crimean War, by G. A. Henty, author of the "Boy Knight," and "The Hunter Cats of Connoroa," by Helen Jackson (H. H.), another famous cat story, uniform with the author's other popular books on the Grimalkin family.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have just ready their handsome edition of Poe's Works, with a memoir and new introduction by Richard Henry Stoddard. It is in six twelvemo volumes, carefully printed on fine paper, and illustrated with etchings and fac-similes. It will certainly be the standard edition of Poe's works for years to come. They have also issued in their Clerical Library "Anecdotes Illustrative of New Testament Texts;" a useful book for clergymen, entitled "A Manual of Preaching," by Rev. Dr. Franklin W. Fisk; "Talks with Young Men," by Rev. Dr. J. T. Davidson, which has been warmly indorsed by Mr. Spurgeon; a biography of Archbishop Leighton, by Dr. Wm. Blair; "Wild Adventures Round the Pole," being the further adventures of the "Snow-Bird Crew," by the author of, and uniform with, the "Cruise of the Snow-Bird," published last year; "A New Robinson Crusoe—The Crusoe of Guiana," a book of thrilling adventure, similar in style to the history of the justly celebrated hero of our young days; "The Children's Forget-me-not," a new and beautiful color-book; a new edition of Brace's "Gesta Christi;" and a new Library edition, in three volumes, of the works of Josephus.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day the "Algonquin Legends of New England," by Charles G. Leland, a book uniform in style with Leland's Gypsies, and containing a host of interesting stories gathered from the Indians of Maine, some of them illustrated with curious designs from an Indian hand. They have also just ready Dr. Herrick's lectures on "Some Heretics of Yesterday," a series of biographical sketches of some of the great religious reformers from the fourteenth century to the nineteenth, with an account of the opinions they held and the influence they exerted upon the theological thought of their times; a little book of great interest, by John Fiske, on "The Destiny of Man," not exactly a chart of immortality, but containing numerous suggestions and considerations with regard to this life and the future life, which cannot fail to be read with marked attention by all thoughtful readers—and Mr. Fiske's wonderfully clear style will make the reading a delight to all who can appreciate the charm of this quality; "The Viking Bodleys," possibly the last of the series of Bodley books, with which Mr. Scudder has interested American boys and girls for several years past. This book relates to Norway and Denmark, and inasmuch as it is largely colored by a visit made two or three years since by Mr. Scudder, it has a peculiar interest. A new and cheaper edition of the novels of Björnsterne Björnson will appear at the same time, in three duodecimo volumes, which ought to have a host of readers.

S., giving the location, area, character of surface and soil, chief products and manufactures, forming a guide to the judicious placing of any line of advertising; also separate lists of all religious and agricultural publications, the various class publications, and all newspapers published in foreign languages, omitting those which do not insert advertisements."

Barnes' new national readers: new national fourth reader. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., [1884]. 384 p. il. D. cl., 70 c.

The reading matter is more of a descriptive than conversational style, with a large amount of information combined with incidents of an interesting nature. The other features of the series have been retained, with the handsome type, fine paper, etc., notable in previous volumes. See notice of series, "Weekly Record," P. W., Mar. 8, 1884 [632].

Basil, [pseud.] A drawn game. N. Y., G. Munro, [1884]. 81 p. Q. (Seaside lib., no. 1887.) pap., 20 c.

Bloomfield, Rob. The horkey: a ballad; il. by G. Cruikshank. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., [1884]. 48 p. sq. O. bds., $1.

Quaintly written and illustrated ballad of the "horkey" or the harvest home festival in Suffolk, England; the illustrations are in colors, and cover every page; they are very carefully done and very amusing.

Bonner, [Katherine] Sherwood [Mrs. McDowell.] Suwanee river tales; with il. by F. T. Merrill. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1884. 10+303 p., S. cl., $1.25.

Sophia Kirk prefaces this collection by an interesting biographical paper of the young and lamented author, who died in July of 1883. Sherwood Bonner was born in Mississippi, and her stories all have a flavor of the South; they are both tender and droll, and photograph faithfully the old plantation times and devoted household slaves; and also scenes and characters of the period following the war. The first section of the book, "Gran'-mammy," gives the surroundings of her own childhood; "Four sweet girls of Dixie" and "A ring of tales for younger folks" are both groups of short stories. Youthful or older readers will take pleasure in the volume.

Brontë, Charlotte, [Mrs. Nichols; pseud. "Currer Bell.")] Jane Eyre. Haworth ed. Phil., Robt. M. Lindsay, 1884. 2 v., 8+383; 3+421 p. il O. cl., $10.

A new and handsome edition of one of the most popular of Charlotte Brontë's novels, printed on fine linen paper with uncut edges, ample margins, and in bold clear type; illustrated with 8 etchings made from the original copper surface of the principal places of interest described in the work, from authentic views sketched by E. M. Wimperis and others, by Stephen Parrish, G. D. Clements, Henry Farrar, E. L. Peirce, Moran, and others; together with a newly etched portrait of Charlotte Brontë, by B. Dillaye; there are also 38 ornamental initial letters, designed by John S. Stevenson. The edition is limited to 500 copies, 75 copies being printed on Whatman's hand-made paper, with duplicate signed proofs of the etchings on Japan paper, selling at $20.

Cable, G. W. Dr. Sevier. Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1885 [1884]. 5-473 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The pathetic history of the Richlings, the benevolence and philanthropy of Dr. Sevier, the amusing conversation of the handsome, inconsequent Narcisse, and the warm expansiveness of Mrs. Riley, with the picturesque figures of Ristofalo and the baker Reisen, are all so well known to readers generally through the pages of the Century, in which magazine "Dr. Sevier" has been the chief feature for a year back, that any extended description seems unnecessary. The scene of the story is New Orleans; it opens in the year 1859, and is carried into the first years of the war; with some graphic pictures of the later, as seen in "Dixie's land," it ends.

Channing, E. Town and county government in the English colonies of North America: the Toppan prize essay for 1883. Balt., Johns Hopkins University, 1884. 57 p. O. (Johns Hopkins University studies, 2d ser., no. 10.) pap., 50 c.

Clodd, E. The childhood of the world: a simple account of man in early times. N.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Donnell, E. J. The true issue: industrial depression and political corruption caused by tariff monopolies; reform demanded in the interest of manufacturers, farmers, and workmen. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1884. 2+79 p. D. (Questions of the day, no. 16.) pap., 25c.

A reply to an article upon the tariff question published in Bradstreet's, which purported to be an answer to a former letter of Mr. Donnell's on the same subject. Bradstreet's refusing to publish the present reply, it has been issued in pamphlet form. It is against monopolies, and denounces the Republican party as being allied with the monopolists. Pays a high tribute to Governor Cleveland.

Drees, G. W., Halfmann, L., and Frey, A. E.,

eds. Biblische Geschichten Alten und Neuen Testaments, mit Worten der Schrift erzählt, durch Katechismus, Bibelsprüche und Lieder-verse erläutert und mit 125 Bildern und Karten illustriert. [Anon.] 4. Auflage. Allentown, Pa., Brobst, Diehl & Co., [1884]. 253 p. D. cl., 50 c.; bds., 25 c.

Formerly issued by the Lutheran Verlags-Verein of New York City. The book has been enlarged by over 100 pages and otherwise improved. The advantage claimed for the book is that the very words of Scripture are given to narrate the scriptural history.

Dumas, Alex. Edmond Dantes; sequel to "The count of Monte-Cristo." New enl. ed. Phil., T. B. Peterson & Bros., [1884]. 17-378 p. sq. S. pap., 75 c.

A new issue, and what the publishers call an "enlarged edition," in 12° form, of a well-known work.

Faulkner, H. C. A handy classical and mythological dictionary for popular use. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1884. 183 p. il. T. cl., 50 c.

A brief and concise explanation of the ancient mythological, biographical, historical, and geographical allusions most frequently met with in English literature.

Fisk, Franklin W. Manual of preaching: lectures on homiletics. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1884. 14+337 p. O. cl., $1.50.

The aim of this work is, as its title indicates, mainly practical. Although chiefly designed for theological students and young ministers, it is believed the treatise will be of service to older pastors. The method followed is, first, to take a sermon in pieces and inspect its principal parts, and then to show how to gather materials and form a sermon. In treating of the means of attaining skill in homiletics, reference is made to works of contemporaneous writers in this department. Author, Professor of Sacred Rhetoric in Chicago Theological Seminary.

Ford, Worthington C. The standard silver dollar and the coinage law of 1878. N. Y., The Society for Political Education, 1884. 2+32 p. D. (Economic tracts, no. 13.) pap., 20 c.

In this tract the writer has striven to point out the economic principles that should underlie a sound currency, and to show in what respects the law of 1878 conflicts with them. It is not, therefore, an attack upon silver, but an attack upon a coin that pretends to be what it is not—a standard dollar.

Frey, A. Emil. Eliot, Brainerd und Zeisberger, drei Glaubenszeugen unter den Indianern. Allentown, Pa., Brobst, Diehl & Co., [1884]. 139 p. il. sq. S. cl., 30 c.; gilt, 40 c.

A touching description of the work and trials of three missionaries to the American Indians.

Gay, Sydney Howard. James Madison. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884. 5+342 p. S. (American statesmen.) cl., $1.25.

"Treats of James Madison, whose paper to his colleagues in Virginia suggesting the Constitution, and whose activity in the constitutional convention have given him the title of 'the Father of the Constitution.' Mr. Gay has studied his subject in the light of the best authorities, and has drawn his conclusions concerning Mr. Madison's career and place conscientiously and correctly. The narrative is exceedingly well written, and is invested with great interest. Both in historical and literary value, it is one of the most important volumes yet issued in a series which should form a part of the educational course of every American citizen."—Boston Globe.

Gustafson, Axel. The foundation of death: a study of the drink-question. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1884. 3-31+582 p. D. cl., $2.

Purports to be a résumé of almost everything by any writer of importance that has been said on the side of total abstinence from liquor, and against the evil effects of drinking. Mr. Gustafson gives a startling array of facts, showing that there can be no such thing as moderate drinking and that liquor is an evil even as a therapeutical agent. The headings to the chapters will give some idea of the exhaustive nature of the work: Drinking among the ancients; History of the discovery of distillation; Preliminaries to the study of modern drinking; Adulterations; Physiological results; Pathological results; Moral results; Heredity; Therapeutics; Social results; Origin and causes of alcoholism; Specious reasonings concerning the use of alcohol; What can be done? Printed with numerous valuable foot-notes and marginal annotations. The appendix goes deeply into the rights and means of legal suppression of the liquor traffic, and gives an abstract from the last report of the British Commissioners of Lunacy. A bibliography of the subject covers 65 pages; it includes the works of all nations, arranged by countries and chronologically. An index to the bibliography, and a full subject index to the volume. Mr. Gustafson is a Swede by birth and a graduate of Harvard University.

Havergal, Frances Ridley. Songs of Christmas. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1885 [1884]. No paging, il. sq. O. cl., $1.50; fringed, $1.75.

Printed on one side only of fine-tinted paper, illustrated with page and text pictures by Jessie Curtis Shepherd, W. St. John Harper, Harry Fenn, W. L. Taylor, and others; eng. under the supervision of G. T. Andrew. In a lithographic cover fringed, the design being a number of little charity school girls in brown and white singing carols; the background is blue and gold with holly sprays.

Herr, J. D., D.D. A voyage of discovery in the realm of Christian experience. Norwich, Ct., M. Safford & Co., 1884. 48 p. S. pap., 15 c.

Short discourses on how salvation may be found; by the pastor Central Baptist Church, Norwich, Ct.

Herrick, S. E., D.D. Some heretics of yesterday. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1885 [1884]. 6+320 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Lectures delivered by Dr. Herrick last winter in Boston on the great religious reformers from the 14th century to the 19th. They were given in the order in which we quote them, presenting a connected history of religious thought for over four centuries, as follows: Tauler and the Mystics; Wickliff; John Hus; Savonarola; Latimer; Cranmer; Melancthon; Knox; Calvin; Coligny; William Brewster; John Wesley.

Hissrich, R. Biographies of all the candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States from 1789 to present date; including a record of each presidential campaign. Wheeling, W. Va. [Stanton & Davenport], 1884. 6-123+24 p. D. pap., 25 c.

Hopkins, Mark, D.D. Teachings and counsels: twenty Baccalaureate sermons, with a discourse on President Garfield. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1884. 6+395 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The final teachings and counsels given to the graduating classes of Williams College from 1850 onward by the venerable, ex-president. With one exception the sermons were originally published in somewhat modified form and in a different order from which they were delivered in a volume entitled "Strength and beauty." In this volume they are given in their proper order, with the texts restored.

Hovey, Horace C. Guide book to the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky; historical, scientific, and descriptive. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1884. 2+70 p. map and il. O. pap., 25c.

Howe, E. W. The story of a country town. [New issue.] Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1884. 9+413 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Recently published in Kansas, this novel was thought worthy of a new Boston issue. It is a realistic story of domestic life in a frontier town of Kansas, and deals with commonplace men and women and commonplace virtues and failings; it depicts graphically the narrowness of heart and mind growing out of ignorance, the hardness and cruelty resulting from religious bigotry, and the tragedy of a home life without love or sympathy. Although sad and depressing, the story evinces real power.

Humphrey, Miss L. B. Sweet girl Goldie: a wonder story of butterfly time, designed by Miss L. B. Humphrey. N. Y., Spinney & Perkins, [1884]. In the shape of a butterfly, ribbon-tied, $1.25.

A little story illustrated with colored pictures of flowers and butterflies and "sweet girl Goldie" in various positions; cut in the shape of a butterfly, the outside covers being colored to represent handsome [brown and] golden wings; tied with silken cord.

Illinois. Supreme Court. Reports. Norman L. Freeman, rep. V. 107: June-Nov., 1883. Springfield, printed for the rep. [N. L. Freeman], 1884. 776 p. O. shp., $2.25.

Jackson, Mrs. Helen, ["H. H.," formerly Mrs. Hunt.] The hunter cats of Connorloa. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1884. 6-156 p. il. sq. D. cl., $1.25.

Connorloa was the name of "Rea" and "Jusy's" uncle's place at San Gabriel, California. "Rea" and "Jusy" were born in Italy, but when both father and mother were taken from them, their uncle brought them out to America. The little Italians' surprise at all they see in the new country—the beautiful flowers and trees, the Indians and Chinamen, the strange birds and animals, and the "hunter-cats," trained to hunt gophers and rabbits, all of which Mrs. Jackson describes in a simple, taking way—and the incidents of their new life, make up a pretty story.

Lang, Andrew. The Princess Nobody: a tale of fairyland; after the drawings by R. Doyle; printed in colors by Edmund Evans. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., [1884]. 56 p. O. bds., $2.

A fairy tale, full of quaint conceits, which the artist, Mr. Richard Doyle, has interpreted in capital style. Every page has a picture in colors of midgits and fairies, birds and insects, or scenes from fairyland. Throughout there is a pleasant odd humor in text and illustrations that even grown folk will appreciate. A rich lithograph cover, with a design of fairies and butterflies.

Leavitt's farmer's almanack for 1884. Concord, N. H., Edson C. Eastmann, [1884]. 47 p. D. pap., 10 c.

Leavitt, Rev. G. R. The duties of Christians to the church. Bost., Congregational S. S. and Pub. Soc., [1884]. 45 p. Tt. pap., 5 c.

Leland, C. G. The Algonquin legends of New England, or, myths and folk-lore of the Micmac, Passamaquoddy, and Penobscot tribes. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884. 15+379 p. il. D. cl., $2.

All of this material was gathered directly from Indian narrators, either by Mr. Leland or by his friends. Of the legends, Mr. Leland says "while they are fragmentary and incomplete, they still read like the fragments of a book whose subject was once broadly and coherently treated by a man of genius. They are handled in the same bold and artistic manner as the Norse. There is nothing like them in any other North American Indian records. They are, especially those which are from the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot, inspired with a genial cosmopolite humor." The illustrations are very quaint, having been originally scraped by a skilful Indian on birch bark.

Lessley, M. Treatise on embalming; including a full and concise description of the methods to be employed for the preservation of the human body after death, by chemical or other known processes. Toledo, O. [M. Lessley], 1884. 2+156 p. por. O. pap., $3.

"Together with a full description of chemicals employed in Europe and the United States, by the most eminent chemists and professors; also such anatomical, physiological, and chemical facts as are necessary to be understood in order that scientific manipulations may be fully carried out."

Linskill, M. Between the heather and the northern sea: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1884. 92 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 402.) pap., 20 c.

A story of Yorkshire, England, by the author of "Hagar," "Clevedon," etc. The chief characters are an artist and his beautiful daughter, who seek rest from London life amid the moors that Charlotte Brontë has immortalized. Noel Bartholomew is a disappointed man, but his daughter has all her life before her. The story of each is well told, and is full of incident and color.

Lowrie, S. T., D.D. An explanation of the Epistle to the Hebrews. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1884]. 8+539 p. O. cl., $3.

This explanation of the Epistle to the Hebrews is the fruit of eight years devoted to its study. The inspiration to these studies, the author acknowledges, was received from Dr. von Hofmann, late Professor of Theology in Erlangen during a brief sojourn at that university in 1857. He deems it just to himself to say, however, that the present exposition is not merely a study of Von Hofmann, nor a reproduction of him, though he presents some of his views and gives a translated sample of his exegetical work, but "a study of the epistle itself." The 8th. ed. of Tischendorf and that of Westcott and Hort have been taken as the text of the present work. Author is pastor of the Ewing Presbyterian Church, N. J.

Mackenzie, Morell, M.D. Hay fever; its ætiology and treatment: a lecture delivered at the London Hospital Medical College. 2d ed. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1884. O. pap., 50 c.

Marlowe, Christopher. Works, ed. by A. H. Bullen. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1885 [1884]. 3 v. 84+328; 3+376; 4+360 p. O. cl., $9. Large paper ed., $12.

Libraries and book-lovers will welcome this handsome new edition of Marlowe's works, heretofore very difficult to obtain in any shape. The volumes are the first instalment toward a collective edition of the dramatist who lived about the time of Shakespeare. 350 copies only of this edition have been printed, and the type distributed. Printed on fine linen paper, with wide margins, uncut edges. Contains an introductory paper on Shakespeare's greatest predecessor, with an account of his works.

Maryland. Laws made and passed at a session of the general assembly held at Annapolis 2d Jan.-31st March, 1884. Pub. by authority. Annapolis, Ja. Young, St. Pr., 1884. 980 p. O. shp., $5.

Matthews, Brander, and Bunner, H. C. In partnership: studies in story-telling. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1884. 2+210 p. S. cl., $1.

Eight novelettes: two—namely, "The documents in the case" and "The seven conversations of dear Jones and Baby van Rensselaer," are the work of Brander Matthews and H. C. Bunner in partnership; "Venetian glass," "The rival ghosts," and "Playing a part" were written by Mr. Matthews alone; and "The red silk handkerchief," "A letter and a paragraph," and "Love in old clothes," by H. C. Bunner.

Miller, Joaquin. '49: the gold-seeker of the Sierras. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1884. 2-148 p. D. (Standard lib., no. 18.) cl., 75 c; pap., 15 c.

Similar in plot to the well-known play of the same name; a story of California and the gold mines in the early gold-seeking days; old "49" is a lonely old man, who is supposed to have accumulated untold wealth through a rich vein of gold he has tunneled near his lonely cabin; his adopted daughter, "Carrots," and a son he had left in a western town many years previously are the chief characters; there are some dramatic scenes with the vigilant committee and the lawless men of that day.

Milton, J. Selected prose writings; with an introductory essay by Ernest Myers. N. Y., Appleton, 1884. 6-30+258 p. T. (Parchment lib.) parchment, $1.25.

The extracts are taken from The Reformation in England, The reason of church government, The remonstrant's defence against Sinectymnus, An apology for Sinectymnus, The doctrine and discipline of divorce, On education, The tenure of kings and magistrates, The ready and easy way to establish a free commonwealth, etc. The introduction gives the reader an account and estimate of Milton's prose writings.

Contains: 1, Grammatical notes; 2, Exercises in reading Hebrew; 3, Selections from Scripture, with notes; 4, Tables of paradigms.

Murrey, T. J. Fifty soups. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1884. 37 p. S. cl., 75 c; bds., 50 c.

Contains recipes for fifty different kinds of soups, both simple and elaborate, and some information concerning soups and soup-making. By the author of "Salads and sauces," and former professional caterer of the Astor House and other leading hotels. Attractively gotten up on fine-laid paper, with blank pages at the back for additional recipes. The board cover has a quaint design in colors of a pretty little cook tasting the broth. The same design reduced appears in gold on the corner of the front cover of the cloth binding.

- Pettingell, J. H. The unspeakable gift: the gift of eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord; with an introduction by Rev. E. White. Yarmouth, Me., J. C. Wellcome, 1884. 347 p. D. cl., $1.
- Conditional immortality is the doctrine which this volume reiterates through its 347 pages; it sets forth that death and destruction are the final fate of the wicked, and that eternal life or immortality is the gift only of those who believe in Christ. A condensation of the author's former works, "The life everlasting," "What did Christ teach," and "Bible terminology," with much that is new, in a shape for popular reading.
- Porter, D. D. Allan Dare and Robert Le Diable: a romance. In 9 pts. pt. 1. N. Y., Appleton, 1884. 96 p. il. O. pap., 25 c.
- The opening chapters are very promising; the first scene is laid in Manchester, Mass., almost a hundred years ago, and the reader is treated to an old-fashioned double wedding, a race on the seas from China to America of two merchant ships, a scene in a detective's bureau in New York at the beginning of this century, and a ball at a millionaire's house, where a number of the guests are robbed of their diamonds. Apparently there is to be plenty of romance and adventure, and told in an old-fashioned, leisurely style. The novel will be in nine parts, one part being issued every other week, till completed; each part to be illustrated with one cut by Alfred Fredericks.
- *Reese, J. J., M.D. Text-book of medical jurisprudence and toxicology. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1884. 12+9-606 p. D. cl., $4; leath., $5.

- Sadler, W. H., and Will, W. R. Sadler's inductive arithmetic: comprehensive and practical treatise, embracing the latest and most improved methods of performing numerical computations. Complete ed. Balt., Md., W. H. Sadler, 1884. 721 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- The authors of the present treatise, recognizing the need of more complete and comprehensive arithmetical instruction in our schools, have prepared a text-book on arithmetic which is designed to supply this long-felt want. As the fulness with which it treats every subject is an aid to the pupil rather than a hindrance, it can be advantageously introduced into common schools which now use smaller, incomplete arithmetics; but it is peculiarly adapted for use in normal schools, high schools, academies, and the higher classes of grammar and other graded schools, which make a specialty of thorough instruction in this branch.
- Seyppel, C. M. He, she, it: Egyptian court chronicle, B.C. 1302; a veracious and truthful version preserved and transcribed for general use by the peerless poet-laureate of his late majesty, Rhampsinnit, designed by C. M. Seyppel. [N. Y., J. Bouton, 1884]. 42 p. Q. cl., $2.
- An adaptation of Er Sie Es, a clever burlesque of an ancient Egyptian MSS. published in Germany. The whole affair is a joke on the lovers of pre-historic literature, and is especially pointed at the Shapira forgeries. The verses are from the pen of a well-known English rhymster, and are full of amusing allusions to modern political and social life. The drawings in black and white copy most effectively the stiff and unnatural attitudes of the human figures found on Egyptian hieroglyphic slabs. They tell with the verses in a most laughable way a story of modern life. Even a careful examination of the work would deceive, it looks so exactly like a dug-up treasure. The leaves are an imitation of papyrus, and are musty-looking and stained, the edges being ragged and worn; the cover is of sack-cloth, held together by leather-thong clasps, and impressed with a huge green seal. The artist who designed it is a young genre painter at Düsseldorf, a pupil of Ludwig Knauss.
- Shaw, Flora L. A sea change. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1884. 1+382 p. il. S. cl., $1.
- The many readers of "Castle Blair," "Hector," and "Phyllis Browne" will need little inducement to peruse "A sea change." While it has all the best qualities of the two former stories—viz., a well-developed plot, life-like child characters, plenty of incident and good dialogue, spirited scenes from English home and school life, and a romantic mystery—it has none of the sensational qualities of "Phyllis Browne." The little heroine is saved from a wreck on the Cornish coast, and adopted by Sir. George Trevelyan, after a vain endeavor to find her parents, the shock having deprived the child of all memory of events previous to the wreck. Romantic as her story turns out, it is not without its lesson, which is nowhere made disagreeably prominent.
- Sime, W. Haco the dreamer: a tale of Scotch

University life. N. Y., Harper, 1884. 38 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 400.) pap., 15 c.

Smith, W: Dictionary of the Bible; comprising its antiquities, biography, geography, natural history, and literature, with the latest researches and references to the revised version of the New Testament. Revised and edited by Rev. F. N. and M. A. Peloubet. Phil., Porter & Coates, [1884]. 2-818 p. il. and maps. D. cl., $2.; shp., $3.; hf. mor., $3.50.

An abridgment of Dr. Smith's well-known work, adapted to the present wants of Sunday-school teachers. The main body of the work is precisely as Dr. Smith himself made it; the abridgments are almost entirely of matter not especially helpful or interesting to teachers, or to any who would not be likely to have the large four-volume edition; some subjects have been re-arranged to make them clearer, and sometimes fuller and more definite information has been given. Proper names used in the new revision where they have differed from those in the authorized version have been added; also the signification of all proper names, and the dates at which persons lived and events took place. The results of the latest research, especially in regard to the topography of Palestine, are embodied in various articles. The editors are the authors of "Select notes on the International lessons."

Snow, Sophia P. Annie and Willie's prayer. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1885 [1884]. 31 p. sq. O. cl., $1.50; fringed, $1.75.

A Christmas-eve story, told in verse, with characteristic illustrations by Edmund H. Garrett, J. A. Fraser, and W. P. Snyder. Printed only on one side of heavy-tinted paper; many of the il. are full-page.

Stormonth, Rev. Ja. Dictionary of the English language, pronouncing, etymological, and explanatory; embracing scientific and other terms, numerous familiar terms, and a copious selection of old English words; the pronunciation carefully revised by the Rev. P. H. Phelp. In 23 pts., pts. 5 and 6. N. Y., Harper, 1884. 225-280; 281+336 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., nos. 401 and 403) pap., ea. 25 c.

See notice under pt. 1, P. W., "Weekly Record," Aug. 30, 1884 [657].

Taylor, Bayard. Melodies of verse. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884. 56 p. S. parchment pap., $1.

Twenty-two lyrics selected from Mr. Taylor's poetical works; a tastefully gotten-up little volume on linen paper, uncut edges, with plenty of margin, and bound uniform with Aldrich's "Friar Jerome."

Taylor, Bayard. Life and letters of Bayard Taylor; ed. by Marie Hansen-Taylor and Horace E. Scudder. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884. 2 v. Pors. 6+414; 4+415-784 p. D. cl., $4.; hf. cf., $8.

"Mrs. Taylor's work is equally distinguished by fervor, moderation, taste, and judgment. It very properly avoids any criticism of Bayard Taylor's literary achievements, but it sets forth with great clearness and acumen his literary purposes and ideals, and the changes which these underwent in the course of his mental development; and in this respect it has high value as a literary study. But naturally its chief charm is the exhibition of Taylor's engaging personality. This is accomplished in the simplest and most satisfactory way, by the publication of his private letters. From the mass of his correspondence Mrs. Taylor and her experienced and judicious collaborer have made a rich and comprehensive selection, covering every period of his active life and all his important enterprises, and showing all sides of him—the courageous and aspiring youth, the tender son, the affectionate brother, the ardent lover, the incomparable friend, the conscientious journalist and man of letters, the scholar, the poet, the critic, the traveler, the patriot—always the frank, generous, high-minded, straightforward man, with his heart full of sunshine."—New York Tribune.

Trowbridge, J: The new physics: a manual of experimental study for high schools and preparatory schools for college. N. Y., Appleton, 1884. 19+367 p. D. cl., $1.20.

"I have endeavored to put into the hands of the teacher a manual which will stand in the same relation to physics that many of the excellent manuals in chemistry stand to the instruction of chemistry in the secondary schools. I have endeavored also to arrange the experiments so that there may be a logical connection between them. I have early in the treatise directed the mind of the student toward the doctrine of the conservation of energy, and to the observation of the truth that our knowledge is relative, and that there are not different kinds of forces. Thus I have endeavored to give a clear conception of what may be termed the new physics, so that even the general reader, in glancing over the character and mutual relation of the experiments, can see the tendency of physical science today."—Author's Preface.

- Van Harlinger, Arthur, M.D. Handbook of the diagnosis and treatment of skin diseases. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1884. 282 p. col. pl. D. cl., $1.75.
- Warner, Miss Susan. A red wall-flower. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., 1884. 3-650 p. D. cl., $1.75.
- The methods employed by the author of the "Wide, wide world" in evolving this story are not dissimilar to those used in any of her later books. There is a very good and interesting little heroine introduced at the early age of twelve, and a rich and good-looking hero of eighteen, who has all the virtues and wisdom of mature manhood; their courtship begins over Latin, botany, and numismatics, the two latter subjects being entered into sufficiently to afford the reader some useful information. The few other characters introduced are only foils to the leading ones, whose young lives come to a happy conclusion, in spite of many adverse circumstances and a strong denominational prejudice with which the families of each is imbued, and which is a leading cause of dissension throughout.
- Weatherly, F. E. Out of town; il. in color by Linnie Watt; monotints by Ernest Wilson. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1884. 64 p. sq. O. bds., $2.
- Verses with very pretty illustrations in bright colors, and monotints of children at play. Pictures on every page. By the author of "Told in the twilight."
- Wesley, Rev. C. Hark! the herald angels sing; with il. from the old masters. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1885 [1884]. 31 p. sq. O. cl., $2.50.
- Contains 14 full-page wood-engravings of celebrated pictures by Raphael, Murillo, Correggio, and others; printed on one side only of heavy-tinted paper. In cloth cover, with a design of Raphael's Madonna and child in centre, and heavy gold lines and flowers surrounding it.
- Whittier, J. Greenleaf. Text and verse for every day in the year: Scripture passages and parallel selections from the writings of J. G. Whittier; arranged by Gertrude W. Cartland. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884. 4-145 p. T. cl., 75 c.
- A dainty little book, in which are traced to their source the many Biblical allusions to be found in Whittier's writings.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 4, 1884.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" thankfully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

PLUCK AND PUSH.

A GREAT deal is to be done in the book business, as everywhere else, by push and pluck. We have heard many lamentations of late years about the condition of our trade, and with good reason; nevertheless, that is not the only side of the case. Despite under-cutting, and cheap libraries, and other ills the trade is heir to, books are sold in this country, and in increasing quantities. People read more, not less, as education penetrates the land, and there are more people each year to read. We are now a people of nearly 55,000,000; this fact alone tells the story. If booksellers would do their very best to meet the wants of the enormous number of readers and bookbuyers represented in this aggregate, there would be less cause of complaint.

We are moved to these remarks by a letter from a new house recently started in a Western city which, in sending an order and some good words for the WEEKLY, adds:

"Since our opening, our most sanguine expectations have been fully realized; trade has been most satisfactory and prospects very flattering. Bookbuyers appreciate our endeavors to keep a bookstore in fact, and not use the name bookstore to give tone to a toy and notion stock, as is generally the case. Our opinion is that if booksellers would pay more attention to books, and keep bookstores worthy of the name, they would have little cause for the complaints that seem so general among the trade. If the bookseller will not keep what his customers want, it is right for the publisher to sell them; but if he takes care of his customers as he should, he need not fear competition from publishers."

It is within our own experience, and an incident many times repeated, that even the large city bookstores answer an inquiry as to a standard book, "Not in stock, but we'll get it for you!" This is absolutely destructive of retail trade. A bookbuyer wants a book when he asks for it—not to-morrow or next week. The rule seems to be that ephemeral books, which soon deteriorate, are kept in stock, while the standards, which preserve their value, are not to be found. What success would there be in a dry-goods store run on this principle?

A well-selected stock, a pleasant store, adequate knowledge of books and careful attention to customers will do much to make a real bookstore successful, even in dull times. Is not that so, gentlemen of the trade?

WE heartily second the protest uttered by the Catholic Mirror against the method, too much in vogue in more than one quarter, of raising prices for the sake of increasing discounts. Within the trade, it is simply self-deceit; as regards the public, either it has no influence except demoralization, or it cheats one man at the expense of another. It is impossible to give any justification, except the most short-sighted policy, in behalf of such a step.

HENRY GEORGE BOHN.

THE British and Colonial Stationer, in its issue for August 30, gives some interesting gossip concerning the late Mr. Bohn, from which we quote the following:

Few, indeed, in any way interested in "the world of letters"—as book-writers, book-lovers, or booksellers—can have failed to hear of Henry George Bohn. In his later years he came to be called "Old Bone"—not contemptuously, but familiarly, for there was no department of book commerce with which, during much more than half a century, his name is not inseparably connected. Mr. Bohn died on Friday, 24th inst., at his residence, North End House, Twickenham, at the advanced age of 88.

Apart from being a singularly astute, foreseeing, and enterprising man of business, as a bookseller and publisher, Mr. Bohn was to a certain extent a bibliographer, an author, and a translator. No one, probably, can tell how many of the books that bear his name were actually the products of his pen. People in his line of business employ many hands, some of them exceedingly deft, and the instruments of acute, trained, learned brains. These "hands," whether as compilers or cataloguers, write much, and what they do is usually attributed to their masters. If Mr. Bohn had written all the pages that bear his name he must have lived from his infancy with a pen in his hand. As, however, we know that he enjoyed the usual intervals for necessary rest and refreshment, and beyond that found time to carry on a large trade, and even to read, write letters, and travel, we might catalogue many books as "after" or as belonging to "the school" of H. G. Bohn, as they do in regard to engravers and painters.

As his name implies, he was of German extraction, and was the son of a London bookseller. He was born January 4, 1796, and after completing his education entered his father's business, where he soon acquired a knowledge of books, which made him one of the best, if not the foremost bibliographer of the age. In 1831 he commenced business on his own account, and it is impossible to estimate too highly the services he rendered to the more intelligent portion of the community by republishing, at a cheap rate, a vast number of the most valuable works in literature, science, philosophy, history, biography, topography, archæology, theology, natural history, poetry, art, fiction, etc.

THE GUINEA CATALOGUE.

About the year 1840 Mr. Bohn was the greatest—that is, the most extensive—bookseller in Great Britain. In 1841 he published his "Guinea Catalogue," which was, up to that time, the biggest advertisement ever put forth by a bookseller for the sale of his stock. It has since been exceeded enormously by the mammoth catalogues of Mr. Quaritch.

The name reminds us that, in 1842, when Bernard Quaritch left the Fatherland and came to London, he found employment in a subordinate capacity—that of a mere porter—with Henry G. Bohn. He remained two years in this establishment—years to which in some degree may be traced the origin of the remarkable fund of book lore which he subsequently amassed. Mr. Quaritch adds to his many other sterling qualities that of indomitable determination. He has often told his friends how, when handing round the books at one of Bohn's sales, he made up his mind that some day or other he would eclipse his present master, and be "the biggest bookseller in Europe," a position which he has undoubtedly since achieved. He left Mr. Bohn, but returned after awhile, and was employed by him between 1845 and 1847, during which time he compiled the only printed volume of Bohn's 1847 Classified Catalogue, which was in general arrangement as well as in regard to accuracy a far more creditable performance than the celebrated Guinea Catalogue, notwithstanding the lavish praises that have been bestowed on that compilation.

About 1840 Mr. Bohn began a series of cheap classics, and is said to have translated several of Schiller's, Goethe's, and Humboldt's works. He also obtained some distinction as the editor of the "Bibliotheca Parriana" of Addison's works, and of a new and enlarged edition of Lowndes's "Bibliographer's Manual." He was also the compiler of a "Polygot of Foreign Proverbs," a "Hand-Book of Proverbs," an "Illustrated Hand-Book of Geography," and a "Hand-Book of Pottery and Porcelain and other Objects of Virtu," with an introductory letter on pottery and porcelain and an engraved list of all known marks and monograms; and the editor of a "Hand-Book of Games of Chance, Skill, and Manual Dexterity."

THE PAPER DUTY.

"It may appear strange," says a morning journal, "to add that Mr. Bohn, one of the pioneers of cheap literature and a very triton among minnows in those waters, was in 1866 strongly opposed to the proposed repeal of the paper duty, and that he published a pamphlet, in which he asserted that the repeal of the duty would not be of any real advantage to the public or the trade, while it would entail a loss of two millions per annum to the imperial revenue. Fortunately for Mr. Bohn and the public, he stood almost alone as opposing the change from a literary point of view." The repeal of the paper duty, however, which pressed upon paper manufacturers with a grievous weight wholly unparalleled in modern days, was opposed by not a few tradesmen, such as publishers and printers, who, having risen to eminence in the days of dear books and large profits, foresaw, with fear, the competition and the new conditions of business which the abolition of the tax would inevitably create.

Mr. Bohn, who married the only daughter of the late Mr. Simpkin, was, it will have been inferred from the foregoing, an antiquary and a Fellow of the Antiquaries and of many scientific and learned societies, including the Philobiblion Society, to which he contributed a life of Shakespeare and an extensive Dictionary of English Poetical Quotations. These books were printed for private circulation only, but have, on more than one occasion, fallen to the auctioneer's hammer in the sales of large collections, when they have realized good prices. He retired from business some years since, when the whole of his immense stock passed into the hands of Messrs George Bell & Sons.

THE BOOKSELLER AND THE BIBLIOPHILE.

"It might naturally be expected," says a contemporary, "that Mr. Bohn's reminiscences were of the most extensive and pleasant kind." This was undoubtedly so, and no pleasanter hours could be passed than in listening to his talk on men and books, when, as he expressed it, his gout allowed him to indulge in a little head work without the two disagreeing. But, perhaps, that which gave him most pleasure were the pleasant recollections he cherished of his connection with the Hamilton Palace Library, now, alas! dispersed. All the books supplied to that library since 1831, when Mr. Bohn commenced business, were supplied exclusively by him, partly to the then Duke of Hamilton and partly to Mr. Beckford. "They used," he said, "at first to come together at an appointed time, and usually selected somewhat largely from the literary and artistic treasures which I had recently accumulated during a long and opportune tour on the Continent."

CONTRIBUTIONS TO TYPOGRAPHICAL LITERATURE.

Comparatively few are aware that Mr. Bohn has added considerably to the literature of printing. In 1857 he wrote a lecture on "The Origin and Progress of Printing," and delivered it at Twickenham and at Richmond. It was afterward privately printed, and subsequently formed a portion of Vol. IV. of the "Miscellanies" of the Philobiblion Society. From the fact of its appearance among the records of a society so "learned" as this, and the eulogiums of the many "learned men" that it received, it might be thought to be a "learned" production. As a matter of fact it is altogether worthless, notwithstanding the vast opportunities of its compiler. Blades says that it is "weak, and full of borrowed suppositions."

The story of poor Timperley, the author of the "Dictionary of Printers and Printing," has not yet been written, and this is not the occasion for entering into its painful details. It was issued in 1839, and was unappreciated. The stock was consigned in quires (that is, unbound) to an auctioneer. He disposed of it, and ran away with the proceeds of the sale. Timperley, heartbroken with misfortune, had to take a situation as a bookseller's hack. The purchaser of the sheets, "at an old song," it is stated, was Henry G. Bohn, who forthwith proceeded to furbish them up and bring them into the market. Accordingly he rechristened the book, calling it the "Encyclopædia of Literary and Typographical Anecdote," with a most voluminous title-page. Although it was not reprinted, it was called a "second edition." Twelve pages, however, were added at the end, giving some meagre particulars of printers and booksellers from 1839 to 1842. The stock of another book written by Timperley, "The Printer's Manual," was also bought up, and it was actually interpolated bodily between pages 32 and 33.

LOWNDES'S BIBLIOGRAPHER'S MANUAL.

The value of this book to every one who has the slightest pretence to be regarded as a literary workman is too well known to need a word here. The struggles and the misfortunes of its author are, however, not so well known. The copyright came into the hands of Mr. Bohn, and he employed the author as a "cataloguer." A new edition was issued, "enlarged by H. G. Bohn" in 1869, and we believe there has been a reissue, if not another edition, since. When Quaritch was in Mr. Bohn's employ, in 1842-43. Lowndes was a failing old man, and was often helped in his tasks by Quaritch. The book bears many resemblances to Timperley's in its history, although it was devoted to bibliography, while the other was devoted to typography. Both were wonderfully laborious compilations, both the work of poor men—both unsuccessful men—both failures at first, both successes at last when in the hands of a successful publisher, who has died in riches and honor, while their authors died in poverty and obscurity. Such is life!

EXTORTIONATE PRICES.

From the Catholic Mirror, Sept. 27.

THE Catholic World, in its Literary Bulletin of the October number, has the following:

UP GO PRICES.—Another Catholic publishing house has advanced the retail price of its books from twenty-five to fifty per cent. This is adding on with a vengeance. Who is next? We shall have something to say about all this kind of work as soon as we can find time. At present we are too busy to look into it. We give this as a note of warning.

This simply means that certain Catholic publishers have advanced their catalogue-price of books in order that they may take off very large discounts under a pretence that they are selling cheap; whereas they are really getting a higher price from the dealer and charging the public a price that is entirely beyond value received. The result of this is to so entirely demoralize the Catholic book trade that Catholic books have no fixed price in the market. To make the catalogue retail price, so that the publishers can take off 60 to 75 per cent discount, is all wrong, and leads to deception and imposition on the public, because the price is a fictitious one. Publishers should issue their publications at a reasonable price above cost, and then give a discount of not over one third or 40 per cent, at most, from their catalogue price. A dealer who gets 33½ per cent discount makes 50 per cent profit if he retails at the catalogue price. In these days of cheap transportation this is amply sufficient, and anything beyond it is extortion. We would be pleased to see the question fully discussed. It would eventually lead to the benefit of publisher, dealer, and retail purchaser.

THE COPYRIGHT CONGRESS.

THE following is the substance of a despatch to the N. Y. Herald, dated Berne, September 27: The Copyright Congress has resolved that authors belonging to the union shall enjoy equal rights with the natives of all the contract-countries, subject to the laws of the country where the work originated, or, in the case of unpublished manuscript, to the laws of the author's country. These rules are to apply to authors publishing their works in a country belonging to the union, of which they are not natives. Authors are to enjoy ten years' exclusive right to a translation in all countries belonging to the union. The publication of extracts or entire pieces of scientific works or works of instruction will be permitted provided the author's name is given. The musical works to be protected include arrangements or compositions based on themes from original works. A permanent international protection bureau has been established at Berne. Mr. Bernaert, who opened the Congress, stated that he would introduce a bill at the next session favorable to authors' rights.

OBITUARY.

JAMES FITZGERALD.

JAMES FITZGERALD, the well-known bookseller and newsdealer, of Holyoke, Mass., died of consumption, Saturday night, September 27. He had been in broken health for more than two years, and has of late declined rapidly. He began business in July, 1872, in the basement of Orrell's building, afterward removing to Hutchins's Block, where he was burned out in 1876. He returned to Orrell's Block, and his business grew so that when John Cleary put up his High Street building Fitzgerald leased the south store, where he had the best trade of the kind in the city. Owing to ill-health he was obliged to give up trade two years ago, being succeeded by his brother. He won many friends, but his fidelity to business was in part responsible for his failing health.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

JAMES CAMPBELL, formerly a well-known bookseller, and publisher of medical books in Boston, died Saturday, September 27, at his residence at Winter Hill, Boston, at the age of seventy-two years. For twenty years he was located on Cornhill, and for ten years more under the Boston Museum. He was known throughout the country also as a prominent participant in the abolition movement. Since retiring as a publisher Mr. Campbell has done a large importing business in books.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—The co-partnership heretofore existing between Edwin Ellis and Bleecker Sanders, under the firm name of Edwin Ellis & Co., has been dissolved by limitation.

ASHLAND, O.—H. Ames, bookseller, etc., has been burned out. Loss estimated at $1500; said to be fully insured.

AUGUSTA, ME.—Horace North, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to S. J. Milliken.

AUSTIN, TEX.—A. W. Hawkes, bookseller and stationer, is closing out his business.

BOSTON, MASS.—The partnership between Soule & Bugbee (expiring by limitation October 1, 1884.) was dissolved September 23, by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Charles C. Soule.

BOSTON, MASS.—H. A. Young & Co. have removed to new and enlarged quarters, in the granite building, No. 55 Franklin Street, second floor.

BOSTON, MASS.—Willard Small, bookseller, has removed from No. 12 Bromfield St. to new and commodious quarters at 24 Franklin St.

BOSTON, MASS.—The new bookselling firm of Cleaves, Macdonald & Co. have taken the large chambers No. 45 Temple Place, where they propose to carry on the business of selling books, stationery, pictures, etc., supplying public and private libraries, and keeping on hand a full supply of the leading publications of the day. Mr. Emery Cleaves will be remembered as being connected with Lee & Shepard for seventeen years, and later with Lockwood, Brooks & Co. Mr. Wm. Macdonald, formerly of Wm. Macdonald & Co., is well known in the subscription business. Mr. Richard L. Bissell was formerly with Gebbie & Barrie, of Philadelphia.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We learn from Bradstreet's that the "Union Catholic Publishing Co. assigned to Otto Phillippi. The business ran down considerably, and about August 21 the former owners sold out to M. O'Brien and J. E. Henneberry, it was said, for $10,000 cash. Liabilities $15,000; assets $7,000."

CHICAGO, ILL.—Charles Macdonald has opened a new stationery and news depot at 55 Washington St. He will carry all the leading weekly and monthly American and foreign periodicals.

CHICO, CAL.—J. M. Ormsby, bookseller and stationer, has sold out.

CLEVELAND, O.—H. Alrich, German bookseller, we learn from Bradstreet's, has failed.

DAVENPORT, IA.—Berwald & Frisius, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. John Berwald continues, and assumes the liabilities of the late firm, collecting all accounts due.

DETROIT, MICH.—J. C. Barney, bookseller and stationer, has sold out.

EUREKA, KAN.—St. John & Wallace, booksellers, have dissolved partnership. Wallace Brothers succeed to the business.

FERGUS FALLS, MINN.—Weatherstone & Elkins, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. Weatherstone & Co. succeed to the business.

HARTFORD, CONN.—Pond & Child, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. De Witt C. Pond succeeds the firm.

HUTCHINSON, KAN.—E. L. Meyer, bookseller, has sold out to G. W. Hodges.

LEXINGTON, MO.—W. B. Tate, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to Charles W. Loomis.

LINDSBURG, KAN.—Pearson & Swenson, booksellers, have dissolved partnership. The firm is now Pearson & Eberhardt.

MARION, O.—J. W. Freeland, books, etc., has sold out.

MITCHELL, DAK.—L. O. Gale, bookseller, has been burned out.

MOORHEAD, MINN.—G. A. Hendricks has removed his business to 615 Front St., Fargo, Dakota, where he has increased facilities for doing business.

NEW YORK CITY.—A. J. Dick, 252 Mercer St., announces that he is now sole proprietor of the New York Popular Publishing Co. and that he will continue the business in every one of its departments.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—John E. Potter & Co., have made an assignment. Three executions were obtained from the Court of Common Pleas, upon judgments granted to J. G. Ditman & Co., Emma Runyan and Eliza A. Witty. The firm can only attribute their failure to the recent general stagnation in business circles and to the difficulty experienced in collecting money due the firm, no statement has as yet been made. It is expected there will be a meeting of the creditors at an early day.

RIDGEVILLE, IND.—S. R. Allen, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to M. D. Allen.

ST. JOSEPH, MO.—The copartnership heretofore existing between Phelps & Bryant has been dissolved. The business of the firm will be continued by E. E. Phelps, who purchases the assets of the late firm and assumes its liabilities. Mr. T. E. Bryant will remain and assist in settling the business of the firm till January 1, 1885.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Wright & Bryan, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. G. W. Wright continues the business.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Messrs. Billings and Pierson, late Billings, Harbourn & Co., on September 22, transferred to M. B. Clapp and E. B. Young, for the benefit of all their creditors, their stock-in-trade, fixtures, and book accounts, etc., of the business carried on by them at No. 3 Montgomery Street. The inventory filed by Billings & Pierson shows the assets to be $11 623.93, and the liabilities $21,555.89.

STOCKTON, CAL.—Bogue & Peterson, booksellers, stationers, etc., Stockton, Cal., are closing out their business.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—W. H. Dempsey, stationer, has sold out his business.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co., of Boston, have just issued a new edition of the Portrait Catalogue of their publications. It embraces a list of all the books they publish, under the names of the authors arranged alphabetically, and in many instances describes the books or gives their contents. It contains new portraits of many of their distinguished authors: Agassiz, Browning, Bryant, Alice and Phoebe Cary, Joseph Cook, Cooper, Emerson, John Fiske, Bret Harte, Hawthorne, Miss Jewett, Lucy Larcom, Lowell, Parton, Miss Phelps, Mrs. Stowe, Mrs. Thaxter, Thoreau, and Whipple; besides those included in previous editions: Aldrich, Hans Christian Anderson, Björnson, John Burroughs, Fields, Holmes, Howells, James, Longfellow, Scudder, Stedman, Bayard Taylor, Tennyson, Charles Dudley Warner, Mrs. Whitney and Whittier. The catalogue, which appears in an attractive new cover, will be sent free to any one requesting it. (96 p. 16mo.)

DODD, MEAD & Co., have issued "A Catalogue of an Exceptionally Fine Collection of Rare and Choice Books, mainly from a library, formerly the property of a well-known book-buyer of New York City." The books described in this catalogue are, almost without exception the best editions of the authors represented, and are bound by the best binder, or have some distinguishing feature to attract buyers of fine books. Turner's Liber Studiorum, a Kilmarnock Burns, and a second folio Shakespeare are among the items of interest in this catalogue (61 p. sq. 16mo.)

JOHN L. BOLAND, St. Louis, has sent us his trade catalogue (for the fall and holiday season, 1884-1885,) of miscellaneous publications, juvenile books, Bibles, Testaments, albums, and stationers' fancy goods. The catalogue, in the matter of paper, print and neat get-up is irreproachable. The cover, especially, which, by the way, bears the imprint of our old friends the Milton Bradley Co. of Springfield, is chaste and artistic in design, and a masterpiece of monotype printing. (112 p. 8vo.)

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co., 1012 Walnut St., Philadelphia, send out Catalogue No. 1, September, 1884, of their Medical, Dental, Pharmaceutical and Scientific Publications. The arrangement is under authors, and notices of the books are given occasionally. (48 p. 8vo.)

THE PILGER-BUCHHANDLUNG, Reading, Pa., has just ready the second issue of the second volume of their "Litteratur Blatt für Pastoren, Lehrer und das Christliche Volk," which contains a sketch of Adrian Ludwig Richter, a celebrated German painter and etcher, a number of book reviews, and a catalogue of the books published by the Pilger-Buchhandlung. (64 p. 12mo.)

ELIOT STOCK, London, has issued in a neat handy little pamphlet a reprint from the Bibliographer of "An essay Toward a Bibliography of Marlowe's 'Tragical History of Faustus,'" compiled by William Heinemann. The author's purpose has been simply to afford those interested in the subject a survey of all that is of bibliographical value concerning Marlowe's play. The essay is perhaps as complete as anything of this kind can be made.

TRADE CATALOGUES.—Received from Cassell & Co., 739 and 741 Broadway, N. Y., "Descriptive Catalogue of Illustrated and Fine Art Books, Juvenile and Educational Works." (48 p. 8vo); "Catalogue of Subscription Works," (16 p. 8vo).—From Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, "Literary Bulletin," for September" (24 p. 12mo); "Calendars for 1885" (8 p. 16mo).—From the Pilger-Buchhandlung, Reading, Pa., "Illustrirter Weihnachts-Katalog" (72 p. sq. 8vo).—From Taintor Brothers, Merrill & Co., 18 and 20 Astor Place, N. Y., "A Descriptive Catalogue of the Publications of Taintor Brothers, Merrill & Co., with introduction price-list" (50 p. 16mo).—From White, Stokes & Allen, 182 5th Ave., N. Y., "List of Publications for the Fall and Holiday Season, 1884," (16 p. sq. 8vo).—From Thomas Whittaker, 2 and 3 Bible House, N. Y., Catalogue of Publications and Importations, September, 1884 (20 p. 8vo).—C. Witter, 21 South 4th Street, St. Louis, Mo., Katalog der Verlags-Buchhandlung von C. Witter (6 p. 12mo).—R. Worthington, 770 Broadway, N. Y., Catalogue of New Illustrated Juveniles for the Season of 1884-5. A very full and handsomely printed catalogue of his principal juveniles and other holiday publications. (16 p. 8vo.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

BANGS & Co. announce that their regular Fall Parcel Sale will commence Monday, November 10. Invoices should be sent so as to reach the auctioneers before the 20th inst.

E. DARROW & Co., Rochester, N. Y., have in preparation new editions of George W. Martin's "Interest and Average Tables" and of Elwood's "Grain Tables."

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have purchased the copyright of Lord Hervey's "Memoirs of George II.," which has become very scarce, and will shortly publish a new edition.

L. PRANG & Co. call attention to the fact that the line "Novelties in Printing Copies" in their advertisement on page 466, PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, September 27, should read "Novelties in Artistic Painting Copies."

WILLIAM CAREY JONES, of California, has undertaken to write a life of his grandfather, Thomas H. Benton. He is now engaged in collecting his material, and appeals for help from others. His address is Berkeley, Cal.

C. N. CASPAR, Milwaukee, Wis., informs us that his list of dealers in antiquarian and second-hand books in the United States is nearly completed. Every one who has failed to report his firm and specialty is requested to do so at once, that the list may go to press without delay and be as complete as possible.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at once a new and cheaper edition, planned for a wide popular sale, of the "M memoir of the Princess Alice of England and Hesse," a biography which has won for itself the highest commendation on both sides of the Atlantic as a faithful and attractive record of a noble and unselfish life.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. make the following additional announcements of books in preparation: "Moonshine," by F. A. Tupper, a new and entertaining novel of American life; "Switzerland and the Swiss," by S. H. M.

Byers, an historical and descriptive work by our American Consul, which will contain many illustrations.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready "Almost a Duchess," a bright, fresh story, making the seventh volume of the No Name (third) series; "The Countess of Albany," by Vernon Lee, making the eighth volume of the Famous Women series; and "Euphorion," also by Vernon Lee, which comprises studies of the antique and the mediæval in the Renaissance.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, Washington, D. C., desires to complete its collection of likenesses of scientific men, and would therefore be obliged to booksellers and others for a list of such as they may have, whether in oil painting, engraving, lithograph, crayon, photograph, etc. Communications may be sent to Spencer F. Baird, Secretary, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

"ADVENTURES IN SEARCH OF A BOOK" is the unique title of a work by Fred H. Allen, in which is detailed in an amusing and entertaining manner the trials and triumphs of an author in search of materials for a book. The author has had the assistance of a prominent artist, who has made characteristic sketches of "life"—as seen in the European capitals and cities—which will be incorporated and printed with the text.

ESTES & LAURIAT have just published "Concise History of the Netherlands," by Alexander Young, a very interesting and popular history of Holland and Belgium, from the earliest times, in which the author goes over the ground covered by Motley in his Standard Histories of these most interesting countries, and brings the narrative down to the present time. Nearly one hundred and fifty fine illustrations embellish the work, and enhance its value to the student and reader.

F. H. REVELL, of Chicago, announces several additions to the series of books by D. L. Moody, entitled "To the Work, to the Work; or, Exhortations to Christians;" "Sovereign Grace: its Source, Nature, and Effects;" and "Daniel the Prophet: Being Lectures on his Character and Work;" also a new edition, from new plates, of "Heaven: Where it is, its Inhabitants, and How to Get There." In addition to these Mr. Revell has in press "Titus Coan," a memorial volume of the veteran missionary to the Sandwich Islands, edited by his wife.

THE Fall Trade Sale opened on Tuesday morning, September 30, with about twenty-five bidders present, among whom we recognized representatives of J. B. Lippincott & Co., Porter & Coates, C. T. Dillingham, De Wolfe, Fiske & Co., Leggat & Bros., A. W. Lovering, J. D. Williams, Phillips & Sons, A. Brentano & Bros. of New York, Brown & Pilcher of Jackson, Mich., Robert Clarke & Co., Coburn & Stout of Owego, New York, F. A. Randall of Rockville, Ct., John Murphy & Co., John Wanamaker, Jesse G. Hawley of Reading, Pa., Noyes & White of Boston, J. W. Burke & Co. of Macon, Ga., M. J. Hynes, N. Tibbals & Son, and W. E. Russell. Notwithstanding the slim attendance bidding was lively and fair prices were realized.

R. WORTHINGTON announces in preparation "The National Gazetteer and Geographical Dictionary of the United States," edited by L. de Colange, LL.D., editor of "Zell's Encyclopædia," and a corps of able assistants. It will give details, in concise and plain language, of states, territories, cities, counties, towns, post-offices, villages, rivers, mountains, railroads, canals, manufactures, commerce, and population. As a book of handy reference for the purpose of obtaining information in regard to shipping, identification of places, express points, and post-offices, the value of localities for business operations, the physical peculiarities, and the commercial character of every place in the United States, the volume will be of especial value to professional and business men.

THE BALTIMORE PUBLISHING CO. announce a "Memorial Volume of the Third Plenary Council." The volume will contain the pastoral issued by the Apostolic Delegate, the names of the archbishops, bishops, and other members, of the theologians and of the officers of the Council; authentic reports of all sermons from manuscript or stenographic reports, which will cover nearly the entire ground of Catholic dogma and practice; also a full record of such action of the Council as may be deemed of a public nature. The work will be handsomely illustrated with portraits of Leo XIII., of the Apostolic Delegate, the Archbishop of Baltimore, and of all the archbishops, bishops, and prelates who may attend the Council's sessions, with such other embellishments as will make it a book of universal interest and edification.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just ready "Doctor Sevier," by George W. Cable, the author's most ambitious work of fiction thus far, and a happy combination of the minutest realism with the purest idealism; "Thomas Bewick and his Pupils," by Austin Dobson, a handsome volume, comprising the history of the father of modern wood-engraving and the school he founded, illustrated with numerous and interesting examples of his work; "Leisure Hours among the Gems," by Augustus C. Hamlin, an interesting and entertaining account of the diamond, emerald, opal, and sapphire, finely illustrated in color; and the Tremont and Little Classic editions of "The Lady of the Lake." They have recently published E. W. Howe's "Story of a Country Town," pronounced by Mr. Howells a "remarkable and interesting" story; and a complete illustrated edition of "The Ballads of William M. Thackeray," containing all the illustrations of the more expensive holiday editions.

DAVID BOGUE, London, will publish at once "Mary Anderson, the Story of her Life and Professional Career," by J. M. Farrar.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish an account of the trip of the princes Albert Victor and George in the Bachante in 1879-82.

HURST & BLACKETT, London, have in press a new work, by Mr. Fitzgerald Molloy, entitled "The Life and Adventures of Peg Woffington: with Pictures of the Period in which she Lived." It will be in two volumes.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, will publish in commemoration of the centenary of Dr. Johnson's death, December 13, a little volume prepared by Dr. Macaulay, the editor of the Leisure Hour, entitled, "Dr. Johnson: his Life, Work, and Table Talk."

MR. PALGRAVE'S Keats volume, in the Golden Treasury series, will comprise a reprint, as nearly literal as possible, of the three volumes published by the poet in his lifetime, with notes and illustrations. The "Selections" will be made only from Keats's posthumous works, and will be appended to the other matter.

BOOKS WANTED.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers are entitled to a free insertion of five lines, exclusive of address, in each issue. Repeated matter, however, must be charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Copy for this Department must reach us Wednesday Evening to be in time for insertion in same week's issue.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline—name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on detached slips, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

WILL PUBLISH SATURDAY, OCT. 4:

SOME HERETICS OF YESTERDAY.

By S. E. HERRICK, D. D. 1 vol., crown 8vo, $1.50.

CONTENTS: Tauler and the Mystics; Wicklif; John Hus; Savonarola; Latimer; Cranmer; Melancthon; Knox; Calvin; Coligny; William Brewster; John Wesley.

Taking these religious reformers in chronological order, Dr. Herrick describes the men, their characters, their opinions, and their work in connection with the social and religious life of their times. Thus the book is a connected history of the leading modes and changes of theological and religious thought for over four centuries, and contains in compact and attractive form just the information which multitudes of thoughtful readers desire.

THE ALGONQUIN LEGENDS OF NEW ENGLAND.

Myths and Folk-Lore of the Micmac, Passamaquoddy, and Penobscot Tribes. By CHARLES G. LELAND, author of "The Gypsies," etc. With Illustrations from Designs scraped upon birch bark by an Indian. 1 vol., 12mo, $2.

Mr. Leland has succeeded in procuring directly from the Indians of Maine, and from other sources, a large number of legends common to the several branches of the Algonquin Tribes. They are exceedingly interesting, and some of them are illustrated by quaint designs originally scraped by a skilful Indian on birch bark.

THE DESTINY OF MAN, VIEWED IN THE LIGHT OF HIS ORIGIN.

By JOHN FISKE, author of "Outlines of Cosmic Philosophy," "The Unseen World," "Excursions of an Evolutionist," etc. 16mo, $1.

This little volume treats a great theme in a noble and adequate manner. The reverent spirit of the book, the wide range of illustration, the remarkably lucidity of thought and style, and the noble eloquence that characterizes it, give it striking value and interest.

THE VIKING BODLEYS.

By HORACE E. SCUDDER, author of the previous "Bodley Books." Fully illustrated, with an ornamental cover, $1.50.

This charming new Bodley Book describes the travels of the Bodley family in Norway. They go as far North as anybody can go, endeavoring to find their Viking ancestors among the fjords of that country. Thence they go to Denmark and visit the haunts of Hans Christian Andersen, and then return to America. The delightful story is illustrated by many pictures, and is one of the freshest and most interesting of all the fascinating Bodley Books.

THE NOVELS OF BJÖRNSTJERNE BJORNSON.

New and Cheaper Edition. In 3 volumes, 12mo. Sold only in sets.

Vol. I. SYNNOVE SOLBAKKEN, ARNE, THE RAILROAD AND THE CHURCHYARD, THROND, A DANGEROUS WOOING, THE BEAR HUNT, THE FATHER, THE EAGLE'S NEST.

Vol. II. A HAPPY BOY, THE FISHER MAIDEN, BLAKKEN, FIDELITY, A PROBLEM OF LIFE.

Vol. III. THE BRIDAL MARCH, CAPTAIN MANSANA, MAGNHILD, DUST.

Björnson is beyond comparison the most famous of living Scandinavian writers. His stories take us to new scenes and introduce us to people and customs peculiarly simple and engaging. This compact and cheap edition ought to go into household libraries all over the country.

HAVE JUST PUBLISHED:

I.

Allan Dare and Robert le Diable.

A ROMANCE. By ADMIRAL PORTER. To be published in Nine Fortnightly Parts, octavo, each part with an Illustration by Alfred Fredericks. Part one now ready; Part two ready October 11th. Price, 25 cents for each Part.

The unusual length of this romance, which is remarkable for its variety of incident and adventure, has determined its issue in parts. The romantic character of the story recalls Sue's, "Mysteries of Paris," and Dumas' "Monte-Cristo," but it bears no special resemblance to those books.

II.

A Naturalist's Rambles about Home.

By CHARLES C. ABBOTT. 12mo, cloth, 485 pages. Price, $1.50.

This work possesses a fascinating interest to all concerned in the study of natural history. It consists, as its title implies, of country walks, and studies of the habits of the wild creatures of our woods and fields. It is an instructive and delightful volume.

III.

Selected Prose Writings of John Milton.

With an Introductory Essay by ERNEST MYERS. Parchment Series, antique, gilt top. Price, $1.25.

"Nothing but praise is due to the idea of including a selection from Milton's prose works in the Parchment Library . . . The selection is well made. . . Deserves little but recommendation."—Pall Mall Gazette.

IV.

Dynamo-Electricity:

ITS GENERATION, APPLICATION, TRANSMISSION, STORAGE, AND MEASUREMENT. By GEORGE B. PRESCOTT. [With 545 Illustrations.] 8vo. Cloth, $5.00.

"The discoveries which culminated in the evolution of the modern dynamo-electric generator have supplied us with an economical source of electric energy, admirably adapted to many industrial purposes. To describe the various methods of generating, applying, measuring, and storing this power, is the object which we have had in view in writing this work."—From the Preface.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1884 (Twelfth Year),

A Large 8vo, over 2500 pages, is now ready.

The improvements of recent years in the Trade-List Annual have given such general satisfaction that there has been no change in the present issue (twelfth year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS AND MANUFACTURERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm names.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title RECORD OF BOOKS published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 7, 1883, to June 28, 1884. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full INDEX, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE" for 1884, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price is One Dollar and a half per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent postpaid for Two Dollars net, payable in advance.

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies will be dispatched by express unpaid.

Parties so desiring can have their volumes supplied with the "DUPLEX INDEX"—having the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut—at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy.

READY OCTOBER 15:

Stories in Rhyme for Holiday Time.

By EDWARD JEWITT WHEELER. Profusely illustrated by WALTER SATTERLEE. Price, $1.75.

Especially designed for young people from eight to twenty years of age. No pains have been spared to make this the most attractive book of the season. The author has been for some time a contributor to such publications as St. Nicholas, Wide Awake, the Independent, etc. The artist is well known throughout the country as unsurpassed in this line of work. The illustrations, 29 in number, are most of them full-page, and invariably striking and spirited. The stories, while abounding in frolicsome fancy and catching melody, are remarkable for their elevated tone and purity of style.

READY OCTOBER 20:

Popular Biography of John Wycliffe.

By JOHN LAIRD WILSON. In Commemoration of the 500th Anniversary of Wycliffe's Death, December 31st, 1384. 12mo. Price, in paper, 25 cents; cloth, $1.00.

This work, which has been for some time in preparation, will treat of Wycliffe as the student, the scholar, the statesman, the teacher, and the reformer. It will give the points of special interest in the latest books by British and Continental scholars concerning the times in which Wycliffe lived; as, also, his prominent characteristics and the chief events of his career. It is written in a racy and entertaining, yet scholarly style, and will undoubtedly prove the best popular life of this reformer yet written. While it will give some features in Wycliffe's career in a new light, it will vindicate him from several charges long and unjustly preferred against him.
